

Chiral fermions at low computational cost using finite element methods.

Presenter: Steven Watterson

Steven Watterson

Abstract: Chiral symmetry with no doubling can be achieved at a low computational cost using finite element methods. We develop a finite element fermionic field theory using a discrete differential geometry and look at some preliminary results obtained with it.